"ST. NICHOLAS is above anything we produce in the same line."—LONDON TIMES.

ST. NICHOLAS

FOR

YOUNG FOLKS.

PARENTS who desire entertaining and wholesome reading for their children, and young folks who enjoy accounts of travel and adventure, historical incidents, stories, pictures, household amusement, and harmless fun, will find these in ST. NICHOLAS, which is recognized by the press and public, of both England and America as THE BEST AND FINEST MAGAZINE for children ever printed. The new volume, which begins with the November number, and opens with a colored frontispiece, will be much the finest ever issued, and the attention of all parents and all reading young folks is invited to the following partial list of attractions:

"The Tinkham Brothers' Tide-Mill,"

A new serial story by J. T. TROWBRIDGE, formerly editor of "Our Young Folks," and author of "The Jack Hazard Stories," etc.

"The Story of Viteau."

An historical novelette of girl and boy life in the 13th Century, By FRANK R. STOCKTON, formerly assistant editor of ST. NICHOLAS, author of "Rudder Grange," etc.

"The Story of Robin Hood."

"The Story of the Field of the Cloth-of-Gold."

By E. S. BROOKS. To be illustrated with many remarkable pictures.

"A Brand-New Notion."

"Swept Away."

"Elizabeth Thompson."

"Where Was Villiers?"

"The Boy at the White House."

"Comedies for Children."

A fine series of juvenile plays. By E. S. BROOKS, author of "The Land of Nod," etc., and including

A Christmas Masque: "The False Sir Santa Claus."

Prepared expressly for holiday times.

There will be short stories by LOUISA M. ALCOTT, and many other well-known writers for young folks; papers on home duties and recreations, out-door sports, occupation and instruction for boys and girls, with popular features and departments.

Price $3.00 a year; 25 cents a number. Subscriptions should begin with the November number. The succeeding issue, "The Wonderful Christmas Number," will have, also, a colored frontispiece and many unusual attractions.

"The Jersey Lily"

Attributes the clearness of her complexion solely to the care she has taken of her feet. "Why!" she remarked to a reporter, "I was once the worst looking girl in Jersey, simply because I persisted in wearing tight and unpliable boots, which any one that has studied anatomy well knows, will compress the adipose tissues, and give an abnormal tendency to the pericardium, which must eventually produce a sluggish current of the sanguinious corpuscles through the cerebral conduits, and therefore cause a sedimentary deposit in the cellular cavities of the cuticle. I had no more trouble, and date my good looks from the time I adopted the 6 Per Cent Gold Bonds.

TOPEKA, SALINA & WESTERN

RAILROAD CO. OF KANSAS:

This Company was organized for the purpose of giving railroad facilities to the people of Shawnee, Wabaunsee, Morris, Dickinson, Saline, Lincoln and Osborne counties, and to run from Topeka, southwesterly and westerly, as above indicated, to Delhi, near the eastern line of Osborne county, a distance of 161 miles, passing through that remarkable territory known as the "Great Wheat Belt of Kansas." This particular territory has been, so far, without any adequate railroad connection, there being from 18 to 30 miles on each side of the proposed line unencumbered by any railroad, notwithstanding the population of the eight counties through which the road passes, numbers 140,000 one hundred and twenty-five thousand souls, and every acre of land susceptible of the highest cultivation.

The Company will issue six per cent forty year bonds, PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD, in the city of Boston, at the rate of $15,000 per mile, and will issue its stock at the rate of $25,000 per mile. These said securities to be delivered to the contractor on the completion of the road in sections of ten miles each, said completion, according to specified requirements, to be certified to by the Chief Engineer of the Company before the delivery of the bonds and stock for such ten miles.

The work of construction is progressing rapidly, and it is estimated that by the 1st of December the road beds will be completed 40 miles west of the city of Topeka, to the town of Alma.

SUBSCRIPTIONS to these bonds may be made at the office of the contractor on the following terms:

For $900, twelve shares of stock (par value $50 each) and a $1000 bond will be given, the latter bearing interest at six per cent. from the date of sale.

This price will be advanced from time to time as the building of the road progresses, or within the discretion of the contractor.

Full particulars will be cheerfully given to those who may call at the office, or any inquiry by mail will be promptly answered.

STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

The Journal says: A. C. Hutchinson, Esq., the contractor for the heavy timbers of the pulp mill at Livermore Falls, and proprietor of the saw mills in Fayette, met with a painful accident last week. While helping to load a heavy oak butt on a carriage truck, the grapple gave way, letting the log down on his foot, which was resting on the car track. It cut off the two toes next to the large toe, and burst that open.

An elevator in one of the Lewiston mills broke, Friday night, and precipitated two workmen, named Benj. La Liberta and Joseph Paquin, forty feet. The concussion lamed them severely, but no bones were broken. A number of barrels, boxes, etc., were smashed. There was a weight of one thousand three hundred pounds on the elevator.

Cumberland.

Levi Jordan, of East Raymond, received a very severe cut on his knee, recently, and it will be some time before he will be able to resume his business. David McLellan also had a finger taken off in a mill.

The Press says that the Portland Board of Trade appointed a committee to confer with the Longshoremen's Association to see if nothing could be done to reconcile the differences existing between the longshoremen and the foreign steamship companies making Portland their winter port. At the meeting, Saturday, the committee stated that the companies would pay thirty cents an hour for day and night work alike. The men decided to stand by their scale of prices—thirty cents an hour for day and thirty-five cents an hour for night work.

The News says that Bridgton is emphatically the paradise of dogs. Ninety-three canines were counted hanging around one meat shop in that town, last Monday.

That gallant body of troops called the Bowdoin cadets is a thing of the past.

The Cumberland Globe says: "Sunday, a schooner arrived at Widgery's wharf with 500 kegs of powder, consigned to a Portland firm, and directions given to send a team to the vessel and have the powder removed to the powder house the first thing, Monday morning. Providentially, the order was forgotten, for otherwise the greater part of the powder would have been unloaded on the wharf at the time the fire broke out. When the alarm sounded, the captain of the vessel was sitting in the office of the consignee, and the first thought was "that powder." He at once ran to the wharf, and hauled his vessel away in season to prevent any damage. Had the fire reached the powder, the consequences cannot be estimated.

Albert Leighton, of Portland, with a party, was duck shooting, last week. Two of them went out in a boat, and in firing at some ducks the boat was overturned. Both men were bound to save their guns, so they held them with one hand and clung to the boat with the other, and in this condition they remained three-quarters of an hour. They were finally rescued.

About ten o'clock Sunday forenoon, loungers on Portland Pier enjoying the exceptionally fine weather, were startled at the sight of a young woman rushing to the pier with the evident intention of precipitating herself into the water. She was seized and held by several, despite her frantic struggles, until the assistance of officers was obtained, when she was removed to the police station. It was there ascertained that she was a Mrs. Hervey, a sister to Archibald, who some time ago tried to murder his wife, it will be recollected. As the unfortunate woman was evidently suffering from mental aberration, the city physician, happening to be present at the station, procured her removal to Greeley's Hospital. The would-be suicide was well dressed, apparently about thirty years of age, and of prepossessing appearance. No cause is assigned for the attempt other than her mental condition.

Kennebec.

It is probable that Augusta will have a Chinese laundry, soon. Chinamen from Portland have been there, recently, to see if arrangements could be made for them to open a laundry in that city.

The United States government has given four rifled Parrott guns to Gardiner, under the act of Congress donating ordnance to towns and cities erecting soldiers' monuments.

The Journal says, Mrs. Dearborn Longfellow, of Augusta, seeing a cow in the door yard hooking her clothes, which were hanging on the line, went out to drive her away when the cow ran at her, and taking her on her horns, threw her some six or seven feet into the air. After Mrs. Longfellow struck the ground the animal did not offer to attack her a second time.

The Augusta Journal says: An eight years old daughter of Daniel Eason, colored, who resides on Prospect street, was horribly burned by her clothing being set on fire, Saturday morning, that she died. It seems that Mrs. Eason had left her three children abed, about half past six in the morning, to go to Mrs. Russell's, where she had been engaged to work. Mr. Eason, who went away earlier in the morning, was returning to the house, in order to take the children up and give them their breakfast, as he had often done before, when his wife was obliged to go away early, was met by a man who told him that his child had been horribly burned. The only evidence they have as to how the child's clothing came on fire is from the two remaining children, aged two and five years respectively. The oldest child says that the youngest lit a stick in the fire and then touched it to her sister's dress. After the child's clothes were on fire, she rushed into the door yard and was met there by an Ayer boy, who had been attracted there by her screams. He tried to remove her clothing, but finding that impossible took off his coat and smothered the flames. A physician was called and his directions followed, but to no purpose, the child dying about seven o'clock Sunday morning, in great distress.

Sagadahoc.

The other day, William Morton, of Bowdoinham, while cutting wood in his yard, struck his axe over a clothes-line. The axe flew back, striking him in the face, and cutting a deep gash in his forehead.

While Anthony McLellan, of Grand River, Prince Edward's Island, was at work, Thursday, on the stern staging of Wm. Rogers' ship, in Bath, he was knocked backwards off the staging into the water, distance of twenty-nine feet, by the breaking of a small ribbon which he was bending on to the stern timbers. He readily climbed from the dock, changed his clothes, and went to work without receiving even a scratch. Had he fallen a little to the or left, he would have been killed, as he would have struck on the wharf.

Washington.

A man named William Brown, belonging in Nova Scotia and employed in an Eastport sardine factory, was drowned in Lubec Narrows, Wednesday, by the capsizing of his boat.

The Times says: Mrs. Charles P. Tilley was a passenger on the steamer State of Maine, which arrived at St. John, Thursday afternoon from Boston. On Monday night, between Portland and Eastport, she was robbed of two wallets containing $110 and a lot of small trinkets. The wallets were in her sack which was hanging in her stateroom, and the thief had got hold of the sack by reaching through the open window. She did not discover her loss until the following morning. As it was all the money she had with her, she felt very much excited. The thief was ascertained to be one Collins one of the crew of the Falmouth, who had been paid and was on his way home. The money was recovered.

A man by the name of Desbon, living in Limerick, cut his throat with a razor, Saturday. The doctor was called and sewed up the wound, and if nothing happens to the man he will recover, although it was an ugly looking wound.

NEW MAGAZINES.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE for December is exceedingly rich in illustrations and literary attractions. The beautiful scenery of the Columbia River is finely illustrated by Cleveland Rockwell's pictures, the artist contributing also the descriptive article.

Joseph Hatton contributes a very interesting article, entitled William Black at Home—full of delightful gossip about this popular novelist, in which, indeed, the latter seems to take part—illustrated with pictures of Black's London lodgings, of Paston House, his Brighton residence, and of his yacht.

Under the title of The Great Sea-port of Western France, Thomas W. Knox gives a charming description of Havre, which is attractively illustrated by Reinhart and Vanderhoof.

Mr. Bishop concludes his articles on Southern California with a description of Los Angeles, the San Gabriel Mission, Riverside, San Diego and Santa Barbara—beautifully illustrated.

Colonial history receives especial attention in two interesting contributions—one, illustrated, by the Rev. P. D. Hay, entitled Cameos of Colonial Carolina, the other, by Professor John Fiske, entitled New England in the Colonial Period. Both articles are valuable for the pictures which they give of social life in the Colonial Period, but Professor Fiske's is something more than this, since it is an admirable philosophical treatment of the Puritan idea and its development.

In fiction, Miss Woolson's new novel takes naturally the first place in the reader's interest, and seems likely to hold it to the end of her story, Black's Shandon Bells has reached a very interesting stage of development. There are three short stories: Among the Rose-roots, by a working-girl, is a very pathetic sketch, full of meaning; its sombre features find a pleasing contrast in the humorous characteristics of the other stories—The Singular Vote of Aut Tilbox, by the author of Cape Cod Folks, and Tom's Moniment, by Susan Hartley Swett.

A scientific paper, Storing Electricity, by Professor Henry Morton, treats very clearly a subject which is just now of especial interest in connection with recent novel applications of electricity as a motive power.

The Editorial Departments are well sustained.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE for December is on our table. There are two fine steel-engravings, of which one, Beware, is alone worth the price of the number; a superb steel, double-size, colored fashion-plate; and two colored patterns, both exquisite, in a new style of work, Arrasen Embroidery. A bright, witty story, Prue and the Professor, admirably illustrated, leads off the stories. The number contains a Supplement, with a full-size dress-pattern, and numerous patterns in embroidery. Then there are some fifty other engravings: of fashions, work-table patterns, etc. The best stories are always to be found in Peterson. Its regular contributors are Ann S. Stephens, Jane G. Austin, Frank Lee Benedict, Rebecca Harding Davis, and the humorist, the author of Josiah Allen's Wife; besides hosts of others. The price of the Magazine is but Two Dollars a year. To clubs, it is astonishingly low, viz: six copies for nine dollars, with an extra copy to the person getting up the club; or seven copies for ten dollars and a half, with both an extra copy and the large-size premium steel-engraving, Christ Before Pilate, or a Photograph, or Illustrated Album, gilt, to the person getting up the club. Address Charles J. Peterson, 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

DISTRIBUTING FOOD FISH.

HOW YOUNG CARP ARE SENT TO APPLICANTS THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY.

A Washington despatch says: The old Armory building in this city, which was built thirty years ago for the accommodation of the citizen soldiery of the District of Columbia, is now devoted to more peaceful uses. A Tribune correspondent who visited it, Wednesday, found the first floor occupied by a portion of the paraphernalia of the United States Fish Commission, and by several of Professor Baird's assistants who are just now busily engaged in preparing some thousands of young carp for their journey to different parts of the country. During the last week about 25,000 of these fish were shipped, and to-day 16,000 more were to be sent. Of the 25,000 already shipped, 1,000 were destined to stock ponds in Pennsylvania, 2,000 for New York, 6,600 for Massachusetts and other New England States, 1,200 for Columbus, Ohio, 12,400 for Kentucky, 1,600 for Virginia, and the remainder for Maryland and to individuals in other States. The 16,000 to be shipped to-day are mainly for Iowa and Minnesota. About 27,000 young fish still remain in the tanks at the Armory; and there still remains to be drained the larger of the two propagating ponds, so it is probable that Professor Baird will be able to distribute more than 100,000 of the young of this food fish this present autumn.

In reply to a question, the Professor said that from 12,000 to 15,000 carp ponds in all have been stocked since the Commission began the work. About 10,000 applications are now on file from different parts of the Union, and new applications are constantly received at the rate of fifty to one hundred per day. As the value of the carp for food, the ease with which it is kept, and the rapidity with which the species multiplies, as well as that of its growth, become known in a county or neighborhood, the demand for young fish to stock new ponds of course increases. The hardy constitution of the carp renders its transportation alive and in good condition from place to place an easy matter, and is another strong point in its favor. Small tin buckets partly filled with water are now extensively used for this purpose. Each of these buckets has a capacity of about one gallon, and is fitted with a cover, in which are two small holes for the admission of air. Twenty young fish can make a long journey by express in one of these buckets very comfortably without a change of water. A year or two ago, as an experiment, a common tin bucket containing a few live carp was sent by express to Commissioner Blackford, in New York, with a request that if the fish were alive when he received them, he would re-ship them to Washington without changing the water. He did so, and when they reached Washington again after a week's absence, the fish were found in good condition and did not appear to suffer after remaining another week in the same water, although the bucket stood in a warm room in the meantime. The small buckets mentioned are much used in sending carp to individual applicants not too remote from Washington. Where a number of applicants live in the same vicinity, a dozen or two dozen buckets are packed in a strong wooden crate and sent by express. For larger shipments, ten-gallon tin cans are used, one of which accommodate from 150 to 200 young fish.

It has been found by experience that the young fish taken from the water in the spring appear to be more tender and do not bear transportation so well as those taken in the autumn. It is found, too, that the growth of the carp in the South is about twice as rapid as in the North. There is a carp now at the Smithsonian Institution which, as a young fish an inch or two in length, was sent to Georgia and placed in a pond where it remained less than a year, when it was sent back to Washington weighing seven pounds. In the latitude of New York and New England, one of Professor Baird's assistants informed the correspondent, the average yearly increase in weight the first year is about three to three and a half pounds. Carp weighing from three to six pounds are occasionally seen on the tables of fish dealers in the Washington markets, having been taken in the Potomac, into which it is supposed they escaped during a season of high water when the carp ponds were invaded by the river. These fish are esteemed a delicacy and sell at good prices.

Whig and Courier.

BOUTELLE & BURR, PROPRIETORS.

C. A. BOUTELLE, EDITOR.

All business letters should be addressed to Boutelle & Burr, and communications intended for publication should be addressed: "Editor of Whig and Courier."

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 15, 1882.

There is a rumor to the effect that Judge Bradley will soon retire from the Supreme Court and that Secretary Folger will become his successor.

The Republicans pick up a Congressman in Missouri after all; and Idaho is revolutionized and elects a Republican delegate by over 3000 majority.

Montgomery Blair's chromos did not win the votes he needed to elect him to Congress. His failure to receive any benefit from the Democratic upheaval is a striking proof of his own unpopularity and of the fraud[ul]ery of which he has made himself the chief apostle.

Ex-Senator David R. Atchison, of Missouri, for thirty-six hours "interregnum President" of the United States, is now seventy-six years old and is rapidly failing in health. He is slightly troubled with paralysis and has almost entirely lost his senses of sight and taste.

While some negroes were hunting near Tallbottom, Ga., the other day, their dogs struck a scent in a cave in a secluded forest, and it proved to be that of a man who ran off as the negroes approached. They found a small cave, the interior of which presented a cosy retreat, well supplied with bedding, cooking utensils, provisions, tobacco, cigars, newspapers and many other things, indicating that the occupant of the cave had come to stay, and had inhabited this retired home for some time.

Maryland has been afflicted for years with some of the worst specimens of the Democratic boss extant. Their quarrels have brought the Democracy in that State to the verge of ruin. They have dictated nominations, stuffed the registration lists and the ballot-boxes with impunity. But this year the indignation of the people would no longer brook these high-handed proceedings, and a ticket independent of the bosses was put in the field. It was elected by a large majority over the regular Democratic ticket.

They do things in a very rough and ready manner out in the Lone Star State, and the summary manner in which a defeated candidate for a judgeship avenged the opposition which had led to his rejection is quite in the Texas style. The disappointed would-be judge selected a propitiatory victim in the person of a young lawyer who had spoken against his candidature, and he then and there shot that young lawyer through the body so that he died. It would seem from this event that the murdered man was not far wrong when he opposed his murderer's elevation to the bench. A gentleman who is so ready with his "shooting irons" can hardly be possessed of the judicial mind so necessary to the proper discharge of a judge's duties.

American cottons, Consul General Denny, of Shanghai, reports, were in fair demand in China during the last year until May, since which time extreme dulness has set in. For the two years for which he gives figures, 1879-80 and 1880-81, American sheetings show nearly three times the sales of English; in drills, American sales are one-half, and in jeans from an eighth to a third. As usual, inferior English drillings have made their appearance in the market, packed to imitate American, but the Consul General expresses the hope that the quality of American goods will be maintained, as certain in the end to win a profitable market. On the other hand, Consul Goldsborough, at Amoy, says that in Southern China, where the climate is warm, it is hopeless to attempt to sell any but "weighted" cottons.

American and English birds of passage who have arranged to spend the coming winter on the French side of the Mediterranean will find unpleasant evidences of the great storm which lately swept over that lovely region. At Mentone rows of houses were carried away. At Nice the celebrated Promenade des Anglais was wrecked; trees and seats were torn up and the gardens in front of many villas were washed away, the damage amounting to thousands of dollars. The foundations of the new Casino over the bed of the Paillon were severely tried but bore the unexpected test satisfactorily. Cannes suffered far more heavily than Nice. The streets were inundated, bathing establishments were carried away, bridges were wrecked, and many lives were lost. The general sense of grief and loss was expressed by the announcement that the theatre would be closed until further orders, owing to a great public misfortune.

Democrats have manifestly been counting their chickens before they were batched in claiming that they would have the Senate on the fourth of March. A more careful revision of the returns and of the estimates of the probable results of the election in the nineteen States which will elect Senators as soon as their Legislatures meet make it seem probable that there will be a Republican majority of from two to four votes after March 4. Fourteen Democrats, eleven Republicans and one Independent leave the Senate March 4. There remain twenty-three Democrats, twenty-six Republicans and Mahone. Of the twenty-six new Senators seven have already been elected—three Democrats, three Republicans and Riddleberger. There remain nineteen Senators to be elected, and to control the Senate the Republicans need ten more, while the Democrats need thirteen. After the election in the States which are sure to elect Republican Senators, the two parties will be tied at thirty-six. There will then remain to settle the question the States of Colorado and Nebraska. The Senate would be a tie if Colorado and Nebraska should both elect Democrats. The only chance the Democrats have to obtain control of the Senate is in event that both Colorado and Nebraska shall elect Democrats and that Mahone and Riddleberger shall abandon their Republican allies and vote with the Democrats. Both these contingencies are unlikely to occur. It is very much more probable that Colorado and Nebraska will both elect Republicans and that Mahone and Riddleberger will continue to act with the Republicans, in which event the Republican majority in the Senate after March 4 will be four.—Wash. Cor. Boston Journal.

A DEMOCRATIC RAID ON THE TARIFF.

[N. Y. Tribune.]

There are symptoms that the jubilant Democracy will blossom out speedily as a free-trade party. They are so elated with their triumph, and so sure of having their own way with their large majority in Congress, that almost any blunder is probable. The natural leaning of the party for thirty years or more has been for free-trade. So far as their platforms have taken any position on the tariff, they have been against protection. They did not discover, till General Hancock began to toy with the question in 1880, how heavily loaded it was with disaster. After the catastrophe of that year, many of them became convinced that it might be wise for the party to dissemble its free-trade convictions for a while, until the people had been beguiled into trusting the party with power, when the mask could be thrown off. Senator Voorhees had a severe attack of this view, and was converted from a roaring free-trader to a fervid protectionist in a single day. He tried to induce the party to follow his example, but not with much success. It is entirely probable that the revolution of last week may have converted him back to a free-trader again. Voorhees is very susceptible, and always permits his convictions to follow popular majorities.

All the Democratic statesmen who have expressed their tariff views since election have declared more or less directly for free trade. Senator McDonald, of Indiana, says the "tariff must be reduced to the revenue standard," which is a very simple variation of the old Democratic cry of a "tariff for revenue only." Mr. Carlisle, of Kentucky, a prominent candidate for Speaker of the new Congress, declares himself in favor of "reducing the tariff to a revenue basis," which is a second simple variation of the old cry; and Mr. Randolph Tucker, of Virginia, follows with a third by demanding that the "rates of duty be adjusted to the revenue standard." These are representative views of the party, and will command wide attention. Of course, no action can be taken at the coming session of the present Congress, but when the new Congress opens in 1883, with its large Democratic majority, it is not improbable that the first organized Democratic movement of the body will be a murderous raid upon the present protective system. This will be eminently characteristic of the Democracy.

They can never restrain themselves from discounting the future. They will act now just as they would if they had already elected a President in 1884. The mask of conservatism and moderation will be thrown off and a proclamation of general impending destruction will be issued at once. This is well. No Republican will find fault with such a plan of action. It would give the whole Republican party genuine pleasure to see the new Congress organized with a rampant free trade Speaker who should make up the committees in the interest of tariff for revenue only. After that there would be no doubt about the leading issue in 1884.

It is more than probable that a programme of this kind will be followed. With free trade upon their party banner in the next Presidential contest, the Democrats would at least be in a more honest position than they have been for many years. They would show the courage of their convictions, whatever might be thought of their discretion. It would make a great campaign for everybody, and especially for the Hon. Henry Watterson. The Courier-Journal would have to be doubled in size and a new kind of display type invented in order to give him adequate field for the utterance of his emotions. Let us trust that the free trade ensign will be run up as soon as possible.

PROPHECY AND RETROSPECT.

Boston Herald, Nov. 2]	[Boston Herald, Nov. 12]
The elevation of such a man to the head of the State would show a low standard. . . . How any man of good sense can vote for Gen. Butler as a cure for any political evil passes our comprehension. Some people might be induced to vote for him because they believe he is to be elected. This consideration influences the wavering. But he is not to be elected. His own reckless misstatements and false and frivolous charges, which win applause from his unthinking adherents, have already warned all thinking men that he is the same old candidate, seeking office for his personal glory, and holding in contempt the people he cajoles and flatters. He is sure to be defeated.	We look for an orderly, even and polite administration, with a keen eye to the main chance and a progressive policy toward National politics. . . We shall not be surprised if General Butler makes a good Governor.

President Arthur is back at the White House, the repairs upon which are finished.

Rev. Dr. Cuyler has recently received three pastoral calls, but will remain with his great church at Brooklyn.

Sir Beauchamp Seymour is not expected home in England till the new year. His command of the Mediterranean fleet will expire about Christmas.

Capt. Webb and his manager, Mr. Fred Kyle, have gone to Europe, being unable to secure a hall for exhibitions in New York.

Vereschagin, the celebrated Russian artist, is about to make a tour through India, to sketch and paint landscapes and the costumes of the country.

Mr. Anthony Trollope's illness is paralysis, complicated by apoplectic symptoms. He is now improving slightly. His physicians are hopeful of ultimate recovery. His illness is due to persistent overwork.

Miss Lillian Ashley, who was recently injured while on the route to Baltimore with the Lingard Company, is slowly improving at her home in Boston, and does not expect to be out of the house for at least two months.

President Woolsey is reported as having said: "When I was president of Yale College I was asked if I would be willing to admit women students there. I replied that I would if Vassar College would admit young men. That ended the discussion."

In a main thoroughfare of Chicago spectators were astonished to see a coatless man thrown out of a close carriage, which rolled swiftly away, leaving him to explain that he had been robbed of his money, watch and outer garment by two strangers with whom he had consented to ride to a railroad station.

The Marquis of Lorne, Governor-General of Canada, and the Princess Louise, are expected to return to Ottawa from the Pacific coast by the end of the month.

Sir Thomas Watson, the famous English physician, is seriously ill and not expected to recover. He is now ninety-one years old. A stroke of paralysis has prostrated him, but left him in possession of his mental faculties.

Among the arrivals at Boston by the steamer Cephalonia, was His Grace the Duke of Newcastle, accompanied by a medical attendant, Mr. A. Parmeter Longly, and apartments were secured for him at the Parker House. This is the second Duke of Newcastle who has visited that city, the first being the grandfather of the present duke, who, it will be remembered, was here in the suite of the Prince of Wales. Henry Pelham Archibald Douglass Clinton, seventh Duke of Newcastle, was born on the 28th of September, 1864, and as it will be seen has just turned his eighteenth year. He is short in stature, probably not being more than five feet four inches, and walks lame, the result of an accident to one of his legs. He has a pleasant, studious looking face, and comports himself like a modest, well-bred gentleman. After a few days' stay in Boston he will visit New York, and go South as far as Florida, and from thence to California. His tour is one of observation, as well as for pleasure and health. He succeeded to the dukedom on the death of his father, on the 22d of February, 1879.

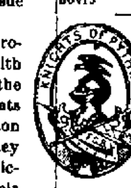

A dispatch from Washington to the Boston Journal gives the following gratifying intelligence, confirming what previous reports have foreshadowed: The news from the South this morning is much better and shows a sweeping anti Bourbon victory in both North Carolina and Virginia, while notwithstanding the attempts of Bourbons to count Chalmers out in Mississippi, he is certainly returned by an undisputed majority of thirteen hundred. A despatch from Richmond says: "The Readjusters are delighted with the full fruition of all their hopes. Not only have they elected all the Congressional candidates they hoped to elect, but in doing so they have slaughtered Fulkerson, Massey, Newberry, Dezendorf and all the sore-heads who have fought the liberal movement. They have also secured at the late election the repeal of the capitation tax, which in future elections will add 25,000 votes to the Liberal strength. The Readjuster Congressmen certainly elected are John S. Wise, Congressman-at-Large; Robert M. Mayo, First district; Harry Libbey, Second district; Ben. S. Hooper, Fourth district; John Paul, Seventh district; and Henry Bowen, Ninth district."

LOOK OUT!

Hundreds of men insure their houses, or their stock of goods, and forget, until a fire comes, that their last premium was unpaid.

Hundreds insure their lives and are not reminded until the doctor is summoned, and the family are all astir over the sick man, that they forgot to take up their renewal—and their policy has lapsed.

In these matters a good old maxim suggests itself: "Having laid hold of the plow, never look back." Whatever else may get behindhand, see that your Life Insurance premiums never go by default.

Policies in the Conn. Mutual Life Ins. Co., issued under the NEW PLAN, meet the wants of the public.

FROM WASHINGTON.

General News.

Will Not Resign

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 Assistant Secretary New resumed his duties at the Treasury to-day In answer to an inquiry he said he had not resigned and did not intend doing so His relations with Secretary Folger, he said were of the pleasantest character and had been ever since their first meeting Mr New also stated that so far as he was informed there was no foundation for rumors of the contemplated removal of First Auditor Reynolds and Second Comptroller Upton

The Jeannette Investigation.

Melville resumed his narrative before the Jeannette Board this morning and detailed the efforts of his party to reach civilization after their first ineffectual effort to induce the natives to pilot them to Belun

The Judge Advocate propounded a series of questions to Engineer Melville as follows

Q—What, if you know, was the particular overt act for which Mr Collins, in March, 1880 was, as you say, suspended from duty?

A—Of my own knowledge I do not know as I was not present in the cabin at the time

Q—Was Mr Collins fully able to work at the time when he was suspended from duty?

A—I think he was

In response to other queries Melville stated the men were in good spirits There was a fair division of labor made among them, that the repairing of the boats was done more effectively on Bennett Island than could have been done in the ice and that there were no unnecessary delays on the retreat, either before or after the separation of the boats

The Postal Business

In his forthcoming report Postmaster General Howe will make several recommendations looking to radical changes in the methods of conducting the postal business, such as the establishment of a postal telegraph system and the indirect lowering of letter rates by extensive use of stamped envelopes

NEW YORK

Suit Against Beecher

NEW YORK Nov 13 The suit of Samuel Wilkeson against Henry Ward Beecher was called for trial to day before Judge Barrett, in the Supreme Court The action is for breach of contract Beecher contracted with the publishing firm of Ford & Co in December 1867, to write for them "The Life of Christ" He agreed to write the book within ten months and received as part payment in advance before he would sign the contract $10 000 Wilkeson was a partner in the firm and paid the advance Since then the plaintiff says he has never been able to get the book out of Beecher nor the $10,000 in advance The first part of the work was furnished Ford & Co some years ago and was published and circulated The second part, however, was only partially finished by the defendant and the plaintiff alleges that he was put to considerable expense in preparing for printing the work and he sues to recover what he expended When the case was called to-day both sides answered ready Beecher was present and listened to the opening of the proceedings

The counsel for the defendant moved to dismiss the complaint on the ground that it did not state that the payment of the royalty to Beecher had been fulfilled and that a statement had not been given him as to the number of books published The counsel also moved to dismiss the complaint upon the paper itself Judge Barrett denied the motions The counsel for the plaintiff then put in evidence the contract between Ford & Co and Beecher when the latter agreed to write the book A number of other papers were also put in evidence John R Howard, of the firm of Ford & Co, testified that from January 1st 1872 to November 5th, 1877 29 645 copies of the "Life of Christ" were sold He said that they engaged artists, engravers and printers for the work. They had a great many applications from agents and supplied them with a book in the form of that which the firm proposed to publish. The entire cost to him for the preparation of printing part one of the work, witness estimated to be $63,100 15 The items were given by the witness. The cost of the books sold he estimated at $29 620 00, and the cost of the books left in hand $3,5 07, the aggregate receipts for books sold were $67 484 25

Trouble in the Board of Aldermen

TROY, Nov 14 There is great excitement here over the organization of the new Board of Aldermen, in which the Republicans and Independents have 13 members and the Democrats 12 The latter at a meeting of the old board seated a candidate who claimed to be elected to fill a vacancy, making the Board evenly divided Mayor Fitzgerald suspended the City Clerk, appointed a clerk pro tem and the Democrats left the room when the roll was being called to organize the new Board The Clerk pro tem then recognized the claim of ex-Alderman Morrissey, an Independent, as holding over and the Board proceeded to organize without the Democrats An appeal will be made to the Court to settle the matter

A Libel Suit

NEW YORK, Nov 14 J L Oppenheimer, of College Point Reporter, arrested to day on a civil action for $20,000 for libel brought by S B Caldwell, candidate for Assembly in the last election

PENNSYLVANIA

An Important Case

PHILADELPHIA, Nov 14 In the United States Circuit Court, before Judge Butler, to-day an argument was begun on the suit brought by the Union Stone Company of Massachusetts, against Allen & Teter of this city, for infringements of the "Brown" oil stone holder by the Teter hand tool for dressing mill stones. The case is simply a test which it is said will decide 50 other suits of the same kind in which $200,000 is involved.

TEXAS

A Terrible Tragedy.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 14. Saturday night Charles Hewey, a merchant at Lost Prairie, Texas, after a quarrel with two brothers named Butler, went home and was pursued, the Butlers following him to a negro cabin where he had taken refuge, and kicked the door down. Hewey had a double barrelled shot gun and killed both brothers as they crossed the threshold.

MRS. LANGTRY AS ROSALIND.

Her Interpretation of the Character Pronounced Faulty.

NEW YORK, Nov 13. In regard to Mrs. Langtry's performance of Rosalind in "As You Like It," Mr William Winter says in the Tribune that there is a winsome, personal charm in Mrs Langtry's appearance and conduct, but her ideal of Rosalind is prosaic, and her execution of it is fragmentary, uneven, insipid and infirm Mrs. Langtry's impersonation makes a fuller disclosure of her personality than was made in her performance of Hester Grassebrook, but not a different one

The ideal presented by Mrs. Langtry will be described with exact accuracy as a type of representation or crystallization of fanciful frolic Mrs Langtry understands, or at any rate portrays the character, not as a complex web of thought, passion, sentiment and archly simulated coquetry, but as that of a merry and rather unrefined girl, who is roughing in the woods, and whose business is to be as mischievous as possible She puts on the garments of a boy, and she dashes in for a frolic The movement in doing this is almost incessant Her face is invariably gleeful, her voice is restricted to the tones of mockery, and her demeanor perpetually trifles or taunts Saucy merriment is the spirit of the performance, and sport its best rule Those observers who think that Rosalind goes no deeper and means no more than this, would be entirely delighted with such a realization, if only it were perfectly executed, but Mrs Langtry's power of identification is slight, and for that reason the auditors of her Rosalind perceive her effort and feel her artifice

After more practice, her gleaming frivolity in the part will doubtless be evenly sustained, but it seems very little likely that her Rosalind will ever cease to be frivolous Her nature is bright and sweet, it is not deep, not only does she leave unsuggested the serious undertone of Rosalind's character, not only is she hardly practical in her treatment of this essentially poetical woman, she does not seem even to have looked beneath the ordinary smooth and shining surface of human life There is something almost wooden in this sort of complacent solid and conventional equilibrium There was, it should be added, an almost total lack of scholar like study of the comedy, and many subtle shades of meaning were lost through wrong emphasis in the delivery of the text We have seldom seen so charming a woman in Rosalind; we have never seen a weaker performance of the part

EX MAYOR BROWN'S ILLNESS. During the past week in which the severe illness of Dr William H Brown has confined him to the house, he has been constantly the recipient of most pleasing tokens of esteem and remembrance in the form of beautiful flowers and messages from friends in this city and elsewhere It cannot fail to be gratifying to the invalid and his family to know the universal feeling of sympathy and interest manifested throughout this community, in which Dr Brown has so long been a prominent and honored citizen. If the good wishes of hosts of earnest friends could bestow a healing balm he would speedily be restored to health and strength.

MISSING TEAM. Sunday evening Mr Nelson Henry, who lives on the Odlin road, went to Mr. Alonzo Philbrook's, who resides on the Webster road, driving over in his own team. The visit at Mr. Philbrook's concluded, he started to return, when, to his great surprise, the team which had been left in the yard was found to be missing. It was at first thought that the horse might have wandered off down the road of his own accord, but as careful search of a considerable territory in the vicinity has failed to recover the team, Mr. Henry concludes it was stolen. The horse was an excellent animal, of good size and a reddish color, and the carriage a piano box buggy.

MR. FRENCH'S SUCCESS. Remarkable success is attending Mr H. W. French with his lectures this fall. His course in this city will open Dec. 1st. A Boston paper of Nov. 10th says: Mr. Harry W. French brought his course of illustrated lectures at Tremont Temple to a close last night, describing and picturing on the screen various scenes in a trip across the American continent from the Golden Gate to Boston Harbor. The wonders of the Pacific slope, life in Mormondom, the Mammoth cave, Niagara, the beauties of the Hudson and familiar scenes in the vicinity of Boston were described with Mr. French's peculiar skill, and they were made much more interesting than many would have thought so familiar scenes could have been rendered. The audience was very large, and, as ever, appreciative. The reason of Mr. French's success is to be found in his fine presence, rich voice, cultivated, rhetorical method and the exceptional beauty and degree of artistic perfection of the views by which his lectures are illustrated. He has gained a large host of admirers in addition to his many previously acquired friends by this fall's course of lectures in the city.

Mr. Walter Pelham, of London, the character mimic, was in the city last evening.

VALISE RECOVERED. About a fortnight ago a large valise was taken in Norman Williams' express team and left at the Maine Central depot. Subsequently it disappeared and its whereabouts was a mystery until a day or two ago, when some children while in the woods in the town of Hampden discovered it. The valise contained shirts and a variety of clothing, which is not injured. The valise is a large and nice one and is in good condition.

OBITUARY. Mr. Editor—Again the messenger of death has come to our midst and without a moment's warning has borne away one of the noblest and truest young men of our village, Will H. Moore, aged 37 years and 1 month. From boyhood up he has exhibited that loveliness of character, kindness of heart and unassuming truthfulness, the truest grandeur of man, all of which have served like a magnet drawing all who knew him in close union and love around him A few years ago while spending the winter in Sebec he found the Saviour precious to him in Salvation and united with the F W. Baptist church of that place He has been a constant attendant at church, and none who knew him ever spoke evil thereof. He was a member of Tarantine Lodge of I O of O F, and was buried with their honors, Monday, Nov 13 He has left not only a mother and sisters in sorrow, but one to whom his love had been given and whose happy nuptials were fixed for but a few days in the future

TEMPERANCE WORK,

Under the Auspices of the W C T U

On Saturday afternoon next Mrs. Emily L McLaughlin of Boston, will commence a week of temperance labor among the churches of Bangor This lady has spoken at Old Orchard, Maranocook and other places during the past season and her ability and earnestness are highly attested We are requested on behalf of the Women's Christian Temperance Union to extend their earnest invitation for the prayers and cooperation of the churches and all friends of humanity for the usefulness of the proposed meetings, that they may strengthen the temperance sentiment of the community and help toward suppressing the terrible evils of strong drink To this end pastors are invited to assist in their own pulpits, and to announce to their congregations the proposed meetings and their objects Mrs McLaughlin will speak at the Union street Methodist church next Sunday forenoon and at the Central church in the evening. Other meetings will be duly announced All the children in the city, with their parents, are cordially invited to a children's meeting to be addressed by Mrs. McLaughlin at 3 o'clock next Saturday afternoon in the vestry of the Universalist church

AMUSEMENTS

"The Galley Slave," To-night

In the Opera House to-night "The Galley Slave" will be given by a strong and talented company There has been a good sale of tickets, but excellent seats can still be obtained The Baltimore Gazette says

Bartley Campbell's great play, The Galley Slave, was given in admirable style at Ford's last night It is a remarkable piece of dramatic work, strong and well sustained throughout, romantic in interest, and containing several scenes of wonderful power and intensity. It was played with unusual care and spirit, and the performance was frequently interrupted by outbursts of applause from the unusually large and brilliant audience. As Sidney Norcott Mr. Frank Evans acted with a quiet force and pathos which made his personation a notably strong and interesting one, while Miss Anne Ward Tiffany as Cicely Blaine gave a spirited and highly effective rendering of a very difficult role.

The Lingards.

The Lingards are to appear in the Opera House to-morrow evening in "Pink Dominos," and the sale of tickets has already opened at the box office. Of this superb combination, and of the play, the Lyceum Journal says

"Last evening the famous Lingards appeared in 'Pink Dominos' before a splendid audience It is difficult to single out any artist for especial mention, where all are so good. Mr. and Mrs. Lingard, like true artists, play their respective parts with only just that amount of prominence they require, and do not, because they are stars, prevent all their clever company from making the best of their respective characters. Mrs. Lingard could easily, from her position in the art world, decline to act such a part as 'Lady Goring' at all, but this charming woman, a true actress, does no such thing. She shows how impossible it is for a fine artist to play even the most insignificant character without a fidelity to nature and a perfection of art which is almost touching in the professional love it displays. Mr. Lingard evidently feels he has an unusually clever partner, and comes very near equaling her as an artist "

PENOBSCOT COUNTY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

Annual Meeting in the Common Council Room—Banquet at Johnson's Hall

The Penobscot County Medical Association held its 29th annual meeting yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at City Hall. A very large number of both the city and out of town members were in attendance.

The annual address was delivered by Dr R K Jones; subject—"A Sketch of the Medical Societies which have existed in Bangor and Vicinity."

Dr. Isaac Getchell, of Brewer, was admitted to membership.

President, Dr, A. W. Swett, of Winterport.

First Vice President, Dr William C. Mason, of Bangor.

Second Vice President, Dr. William B. Bullard, of Lincoln Centre.

Standing Committee, Dr Wm. H Simmons and Dr Galen M. Woodcock, of Bangor, Dr A W. Plummer, of Kenduskeag, Dr. J N Norcross, of Oldtown, and Dr. E F. Hanson, of Bangor

At 7.30 o'clock in the evening, the Association met at Johnson's Hall, Pickering Square, where a banquet was served by Fred Johnson Dr A C Hamlin presided at the table. A sumptuous repast was spread and served in excellent style. After ample justice had been done to the bountiful refreshments, short speeches were in order.

Dr. A C. Hamlin officiated as toast master in the most felicitous manner In his opening address he referred happily to the auspicious circumstances under which they were gathered around the festal board. Feeling allusion was made to the vacant chairs, and especially to the absence of Dr. Wm. H. Brown who is detained at home by illness

Dr Wm C Mason presented resolutions which were adopted and it was also voted to send to Dr Brown an elegant bouquet of flowers, which graced the larger table The resolutions given passage are as follows

Whereas, The members of the "Penobscot County Medical Association" assembled this evening, have learned that the continued sickness of their late President, Dr William H. Brown, has prevented him from meeting with them at this reunion,

Resolved, That this Association hereby expresses its sincere regrets for his unavoidable absence.

Resolved, That the members of this Association unite in hoping that their colleague may soon be permitted to meet them in professional and social intercourse.

Dr Laughton spoke of his pleasure at being in attendance at this reunion and he rejoiced to see such a large number of young men doing credit to the noble calling to which he had been devoted during a long lifetime of active practice. Dr. Seavey addressed the gathering in a pleasant manner, referred to his practice of half a century and said it was very gratifying to him to be able to meet on this occasion with his friends of the fraternity and hold pleasant interview with them. Dr. E. A. Thompson, of Dover, said he was formerly a member of the Association and expressed his great pleasure at meeting the profession on this happy occasion He made interesting references to the whereabouts of one with whom many present were familiar Dr. Bullard, of Lincoln Centre, alluded to the last annual reunion, said he took great interest in the meetings of the Association and should be in attendance as frequently as possible.

Dr Walton had pleasant recollections of the past meetings He paid a compliment to the paper read by Dr Jones during the afternoon and urged the desirability of harmony in the profession. Dr. Woodcock made brief remarks Dr. Huckins referred to a medical meeting he attended in Edinburgh about one year ago Dr. Hanson enlivened the occasion with a story. Dr Jones said the main part of their duty was to heal diseases, but an important feature of their efforts should be to prevent the spread of contagious diseases. The speaker narrated several instances of the dissemination of infectious diseases, and thought by the proper exercise of the influence of the fraternity the spread of these diseases could be much restricted. Dr Abbott, of Winterport, although from another county, was happy to be allowed the privilege of being in attendance at these reunions of the Penobscot Association.

Dr Simmons expressed his pleasure at being present and discussed the subject raised by Dr. Jones. The next speaker, Dr. Mayo, of Orono, followed in the same line and gave illustrations from his experience. He thought great importance should be given to sanitary measures. Brief speeches followed by Dr. Robinson, Dr Tibbetts, of Brewer, Dr. Clough, Dr. Leverton, of Holden, Dr Gates, of Hampden, Dr Hunt, Dr Getchell, of Brewer, Dr. Plummer, of Kenduskeag, Dr Thomas, of Brewer, and E. M. Blanding

After the speeches, some time was pleasantly passed in social converse and the narration of stories. Cigars were kindly furnished by Sweet Bros. The reunion was one of rare enjoyment and will long be held in pleasant recollection by those present.

FROM OLDTOWN

A Silver Wedding.

A very pleasant time was the celebration of the twenty fifth anniversary of the marriage of Dea. S. S Haynes and wife, of the Baptist church, Oldtown, at their home, Monday evening, Nov. 13. The day had been cold and dark and dreary, the rain had fallen and the wind was never weary, yet a little after seven in the evening the friends of the happy couple began to assemble and at eight o'clock the bright lights and still brighter faces presented a marked contrast to the inky night without. Mrs. E. R. Alford, Mrs. R. F. Pierce and Mrs. J. A. Blanchard did the honors at the door, while Mr. and Mrs. Haynes, seated in the parlor, received the congratulations of friend after friend as they poured in upon them. Mr. H., in his quiet and retiring diffidence, fully reminded one of the bashful yet satisfied young man as he leads his bride to the altar, while Mrs. H., with her bright cheeks and sparkling eyes, well represented the girl as she clings to him who is the idol of her heart. We do heartily congratulate them, not alone on having reached this happy occurrence, but that Mrs. H. has been restored from the disease that for more than two years has greatly marred the happiness of the home and filled with dark and sad forebodings the minds of friends and threatened to destroy this home now so happy.

The presents brought were well chosen and useful. One of the pleasant features of the evening was the presentation of a beautiful teacher's Bible to Dea. Haynes by his Sabbath school class. The speech of presentation was made by Mr. N. C. McCausland in touching and beautiful words, moving all eyes to tears and recalling to our minds that one (the wife of Mr. McCausland) who on former occasions had shone as a loved jewel and who had been a constant member of this class, but now gone to the home of the blest. After this followed refreshments, games and songs, in which all were young again, and when at a late hour we felt compelled to return to our homes many a hearty "God bless you" was left with Bro. Haynes and family and features plainly said, "We hope to meet with you in your future golden joys" W.

YESTERDAY'S DREADFUL ACCIDENT
There were a good many accidents yesterday. There will be some to-day, and probably more or less to-morrow. Children are tumbling down stairs. Women are lighting fires with kerosene Boys are playing with pistols Big men are spraining their ankles as they try to catch the moving train. Babies will get their little thumbs caught in the doors Bruised shins, dislocated joints and mashed fingers constantly remind us that accidents may take place at any moment. People who have PERRY DAVIS'S PAIN KILLER can smile at most of the accidents that befall them Those who have not tried it are reminded that they do not have to run further than the nearest drug store to buy it.

What is needed is pure blood, as the influence of its purity upon the health cannot be overestimated. When it becomes impure it gives rise to a large number of diseases, such as billiousness, sick headache, dyspepsia, loss of appetite, low spirits, nervousness, female complaints, etc The success which has attended the use of Swedish Botanic Compound warrants us to say that for purifying and enriching the blood, creating an appetite, strengthening and renovating the whole system, nothing surpasses that great remedy.

A NEW SOURCE FOR RUBBER.

Mr. Edward R. Heath has given a reporter of the World an account of his recent explorations of the Beni River, in Bolivia, and the adjacent country. To Mr. Heath belongs the credit of being the first to make a complete exploration of the river from its source at La Paz to its junction with the River Mamore. He has made many discoveries of geographical interest, such as locating the mouths of the Madre de Dios and the Orton rivers. He has collected also much material of value to the zoologists, botanists and geologists, and a full account of his researches will shortly be published by the American Geographical Society and the Royal Geographical Society of England. The commercial value of his discoveries is that he has established the fact that the Beni River is navigable by large steamers from its mouth to near Reyes, a distance of 525 miles, and for 300 miles further by craft of less than three feet draft. At its mouth the Beni River is a little over half a mile wide and fifty feet deep at lowest water. At Reyes it is 800 feet wide and thirty feet deep.

The country ajacent to the lower Beni produces cocoa beans, vanilla beans, Brazil nuts and many other useful articles of commerce. The waters of the upper Beni run through a country that produces Peruvian bark, cocoa, coffee, gold, silver and copper.

The commercial product of the country adjacent to the lower Beni, which promises the richest development in the future, is rubber. "The supply of rubber to be obtained in this region," said Mr. Heath, "is practically inexhaustible. On the north side of the Beni River the forest extends from the water's edge over 15° of latitude I penetrated this dense forest at one place as far as twenty-one miles from the river and the further I went inland I found the rubber trees increase in size and number. Each square league contains from 300 to 5,000 trees. On the south side of the river the forest is only from three to ten miles wide, but it abounds in rubber trees."

Mr Heath left Reyes for the mouth of the Beni, August 4, 1880, and arrived at its junction with the Mamore, October 11. The voyage was made in a canoe propelled by eight Indians. The actual time occupied in paddling down the stream was a little over five days, the rest of the time being devoted to an examination of the adjacent country and collecting and noting objects of interest. On, August 11, Mr Heath was compelled to lie to near a sandbar on account of what the natives call a south wind, which is similar to the "norther" of Texas. The journey was resumed on the 8th. On either side of the river was found a mass of dense foliage extending to the water's edge, like the forests on the Amazon. At low water there are many sand bars in the river, where turtles deposit their eggs in great numbers. They were much relished by the Indians, but Mr Heath found them strong and oily. On the 18th, the river Tarena was passed and many tigers were seen. The favorite food of the voyagers was roast monkey. Mr Heath pronounced the flesh excellent, superior to that of any other animal food. The monkeys were found in abundance throughout the voyage. What is called the "black spider monkey" is regarded by connoisseurs as monkey flesh as most tempting to the appetite. The monkey that is to be prepared for a meal is placed for a moment over a rush fire. This blisters the skin and the hair is readily scraped off.

On August 14, Cavinas, a small mission station, was reached. Here they encountered some Arauna Indians, who are reputed to be cannibals. They are of a low order of intelligence, small of stature, with skin dry and wrinkled. Mr. Heath was told that one of these Indians in the neighborhood of the mission went out hunting, and returning empty-handed, deliberately killed and cooked his infant child, and he and his wife sat down to the repast without any compunctions of conscience. These Indians live upon the banks of the Madre de Dios and occasionally make excursions to Cavinas, murdering Indians of the Cavinas tribe, presumably eating them afterwards. Some hundred miles below Cavinas are found the Pacavara Indians. These Indians are peculiarly well formed, their features being regular, and some of the women are deserving of being called beautiful. Their complexion is a light copper color. In intelligence they are also superior to other tribes of Indians found in that region. Alligators of various sizes were found to abound on the Beni River and they caused much annoyance by frequently stealing provisions from the boat at night while the exploring party was encamped on the bank. Insect pests were numerous. A species of sandfly called the marigui preyed upon them during the day and the mosquito stung them at night. They were also subject to the attacks of the tabano fly, a species of horse fly of which there are two varieties, one black the other yellow. They cease at about latitude 10 50 south. From thence to the Amazon the marium fly abounds.

After reaching the Mamore River Oct 11, Mr. Heath ascended that stream 325 miles to Exaltacion and from that point crossed the plains again to Reyes. From thence by rafts he ascended the Beni River to within ninety miles of its source at La Paz and covered the remaining distance on foot. Previous to the discovery by Mr. Heath that the river was navigable, the products of the region were transported to Arica and thence by sea around Cape Horn to Europe, or otherwise, across the pampas to the Mamore River, thence down the Madeira to San Antonio, to which point steamers at present ascend. The Beni has an advantage over the Mamore as a highway of commerce in having only one fall, while the Mamore has five such obstructions. "Soon after the results of my explorations become known," said Mr. Heath, "the tide of commerce began to seek the Beni route." All the commerce of Bolivia must ultimately pass to Europe by way of the Amazon and Beni rivers.

Mr Heath said that within four years a railroad would be constructed from San Antonio to the Beni River, a short distance above its junction with the Mamore River. By this means the falls of the Maderia are avoided. The route for commerce will then be from Reyes by steamer to where the railway taps the river, then by rail to San Antonio and from that place by steamer down the Maderia to the Amazon and onward to the sea.

As an instance of the impulse which the opening of the Beni River has given to commerce, Mr. Heath mentioned that previous to the discovery that the river was navigable 185 men were employed in collecting rubber gum. Soon after the discovery was made 644 men speedily found employment at it. The price of the gum before the exploration was $16 per 100 pounds delivered at Reyes; after the exploration it was worth $25 60 at a point of collection. The 185 men collected on an average 104,000 pounds of rubber annually. At the same rate 644 would collect about 360,000 pounds annually.

"The supply of rubber," said Mr. Heath, "is sufficient to give employment to 100,000 men, and as soon as the chain of communication by steamer and railway is completed that number of men will soon be engaged in that field of labor. The rubber, though at present commanding only the same market price, is of a slightly finer quality than that obtained from the old-established districts between the falls and the mouth of the Madeira River and on the river Tapajoz and other tributaries of the Amazon near Para. It possesses other more important advantages over the older districts. The climate is healthy. There is an abundant supply of cheap labor at hand, the Indians obtained from the department of the Beni, who are practically slaves, working at from $3 to $4 a month, or from $2 40 to $3 20 in American money. The abundant supply of palm nuts, which are used smoking the rubber—a necessary process previous to evaporation —enables the collectors to work ten months out of the twelve, instead of six, as in other districts.

LONG-NECKED ARRIVALS.

A HERD OF OSTRICHES IN NEW YORK—SOME OF THEIR PECULIARITIES.

A herd of 22 ostriches have just arrived at Central Park, says the New York Sun. They are confined in the deer hut, which is nice and warm. They are quite gentle and affectionate, but, being full grown, look down on even a 6-footer. One came up to Supt. Conkling and, after gazing mildly at him for a minute, made a sudden snap at his breastpin and another at his watch chain.

"They are worse than a gang of pickpockets," said he; "they wont leave a button on your coats if you don't watch them."

In fact, several of the party were minus buttons on leaving the mild-eyed strangers. They look a little worn by their long voyage, and will improve in appearance after a few days. They are fed liberally with corn, potatoes and other vegetables.

Mr. J. Protheroe, a wealthy Englishman, who owns them, and has cultivated ostriches for their feathers for years, told the Sun reporter how he came to breed and farm them in the United States. "These ostriches," he said, "were brought by me to Buenos Ayres from South Africa a year ago. I have a large farm about 500 miles from Cape Town, on the Orange river. I started an ostrich farm in Buenos Ayres partly because business and trade had collapsed in South Africa, where they have just gone through a great panic, and I thought I could make more money elsewhere. I have about 350 birds in Buenos Ayres, but concluded to try the experiment also in the United States. Ten birds are males, and 12 females. All are about 8 years old. Farmers in the United States have ordered ostriches from me, but I did not send them, thinking they could not survive the passage. I shall examine the best places in this country to start a farm. It is a mistake to suppose an ostrich can't stand cold weather and climate changes. In South Africa ice forms some nights nearly an inch thick, and we have snow also. Both melt during the day. We leave the ostriches out doors at night, and never feed them. They live on grass, twigs of trees and the like, but will eat anything. When they can't get food, however, they die easily. They swallow large stones to promote digestion, and keep them in their crop until they wear out. Ostriches are of no use for anything but their feathers. Never tried them for draught purposes. Their feathers are picked every seven months from the time they are 8 months old. The average life of an ostrich is 40 years, though in Africa they tell stories of centenarian ostriches. We get about a pound of feathers at each plucking. The pure white are the most valuable, selling at $175 to $200 a pound. These are from the wings. Next come the black, drab, fancy and tail feathers. A fair average would be $60 a pound, and at that price I could make 100 per cent, more here than in Africa, where everything is so expensive. A camp there would cost 20 times as much as here. I have eaten the eggs from youngsters. They have a delicious flavor. Eggs from old hens would be two expensive to eat. These ostriches I have would breed in New York in summer time, but not in winter. We use incubators in Buenos Ayres, but not in Africa. I had one camp in Africa of 1100 acres. It was surrounded by a wire fence 4 feet 6 inches high. They won't fly, and won't jump over a fence higher than they can feel with their necks. "These ostriches stand me in about $700 each," concluded Mr Protheroe, as one of them made a dash at his last coat button. Mr Protheroe says that fabulous profits have been made by breeders, and cited the case of a gentleman who made $8000 in a year out of two hens and a cock by selling ostrich eggs, beside keeping the feathers.

American Composers.

As regards musical compositions of note, America is undoubtedly young. A great deal has, however, during the last few years, been accomplished. The following are all by native composers —

Zenobia, ($2 00) By S G Pratt. A grand Opera of much merit.

St. Peter, ($1 50) By J K Paine. A well known Oratorio.

Redemption Hymn, (30c) By J C D Parker. A short, but complete and impressive work.

Fall of Jerusalem, (80c) By H E Parkhurst. An impressive and musical Cantata.

Praise to God, ($2 00) By G F Bristow. An Oratorio. Noble words and music.

Joseph's Bondage, ($1 00) By J M Chadwick. A splendid oriental sacred Cantata.

Christ the Lord, (80c) By W Williams. Easy Christmas Cantata.

Don Munio, ($1 50) By Dudley Buck. A legend of the crusaders, set to music.

[From the Pittsfield, (Mass.) Eagle.]

Stone in the Bladder is at once a most annoying and very dangerous ailment, but many most remarkable cures have of late been wrought by "Kennedy's Favorite Remedy"—the invention of Dr. Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y. Another striking case is now added to the list. Mr. Peter Lawler, of Dalton, Mass, states in a letter to Dr. Kennedy that he had been troubled with bladder complaint for 14 years, and had consulted at different times seven physicians, but nothing beyond temporary allayment of the pain had been worked for him. Towards the end of last January Mr Lawler called on Dr Kennedy. Sounding him, the doctor "struck stone." He decided that Mr Lawler should first try the "Favorite Remedy," so as, if possible to avoid an operation. And here is the remarkable result. "Dear Doctor Kennedy—The day after I came home I passed two gravel stones, and am doing nicely now. If you would like to see the stones I will send them to you." This letter bears date "Dalton, Mass., Feb 6," and is signed "Peter Lawler." The stones which are so large as to warrant for "Kennedy's Favorite Remedy" the claim that it is the most successful specific for Stone yet discovered, are now in Dr Kennedy's possession. Incidentally Mr Lawler also states that the "Favorite Remedy" at the same time cured him of a stubborn case of rheumatism, and it is a fact that in all affections arising out of disorders of the liver or urinary organs it is a searching remedy and works marvelous benefits. It is in itself almost a medicine chest. Order it of your druggist. Price $1 a bottle. d&wlm oct28

Old fashionable remedies are rapidly giving ground before the advance of this conquering specific, and old fashioned ideas in regard to depletion as a means of cure, have been quite exploded by the success of the great renovant, which tones the system, tranquilizes the nerves, neutralizes malaria, depurates and enriches the blood, rouses the liver when dormant, and promotes a regular habit of body.

HEART DISEASE!

IS YOUR HEART SOUND?

Many people think themselves sick and doctor for kidney or liver troubles or dyspepsia, while if the truth were known the real cause is at the heart. The renowned Dr. Clendinning, startlingly says "one third of my subjects show signs of heart disease." The heart weighs about nine ounces and yet man's twenty-eight pounds of blood passes through it once in a minute and a-half resting not day nor night! Surely this subject should have careful attention. Dr Graves a celebrated physician has prepared a specific for all heart troubles and kindred disorders. It is known as Dr. Graves' Heart Regulator *and can be obtained at your druggists, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5 by express. Send stamp for Dr Graves' thorough and exhaustive treatise. AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs: none so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.

"In 1857 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 62 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me. HORACE FAIRBROTHER."

Rockingham, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours,

MRS. EMMA GEDNEY."

159 West 128th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried. A. J. CRANE."

Lake Crystal, Minn., March 13, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. JOSEPH WALDEN."

Byhalia, Miss., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung troubles. E. BRAGDON."

Palestine, Texas, April 22, 1882.

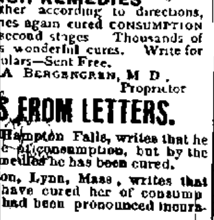

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.

LETTER CARRIERS.

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly.

Persons leaving their address at the General Delivery can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on, and they will be delivered earlier than if the same is put on at the office. Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made morning and evening in season for important mails.

Holidays the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A. M., and from 7½ to 8½ P. M. Sundays from 8½ to 9½ A. M.

Any irregularities in the Carriers' department should be reported to the office.

ENVELOPES.

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and request to return, across the left hand upper corner of the envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department, (samples of which may be seen at the Cashier's window) when ordered in lots of not less than 500.

A request for the return of a letter to the writer, if unclaimed within thirty days, or less, written or printed, with the writer's name, post office and State, across the left end of the envelope, on the face side, will be complied with.

The public are earnestly recommended to procure Stamped envelopes with printed return request, as the expense is less, and letters thus endorsed, if not delivered to the person addressed, are returned to the writer free of charge.

Stamps cut from Stamped Envelopes cannot be used to prepay postage. The use of such Stamps is punishable by a fine of fifty dollars. Stamped Envelopes, spoiled in directing, are redeemed at this office.

DOMESTIC POSTAGE.

FIRST CLASS.

All Letters must be Prepaid—Letters for the Mails in the United States, three cents the half ounce or single rate. City letters, two cents half ounce or single rate.

SECOND CLASS.

Newspapers.

All regular newspapers must be prepaid at the office of publication, at the rate of two cents per pound for each issue. The same law applies to dealers.

County papers free, except to letter carrier offices, i. e papers coming to this office, if published in County, are subject to postage. Daily papers published in County, if delivered by carrier, one cent each, to be prepaid by stamps.

Postage to Canada—Same as in the States on letters and papers, pre payment compulsory, merchandise limited to 8 oz., postage 10 cents.

THIRD CLASS.

Postage One Cent for Two Ounces.

FOURTH CLASS.

Postage One Cent for each Ounce.

Blank cards, card board and other flexible material, flexible patterns, letter envelopes and letter paper without printing thereon, merchandise, models, ornamented paper, sample cards, samples of ores, metals, minerals, seeds, cuttings, bulbs, roots, scions, drawings, plans, designs, ornamental paintings in oil or water colors and any other matter not included in first, second or third classes, and which is not in its form or nature liable to destroy, deface or otherwise damage the contents of the mail bag or harm the person of any one engaged in the postal service.

Upon matter of third or fourth class the sender may write his own name or address with the word "from," without extra charge for postage.

Third and fourth class matter may be registered same as first class, on payment of the register fee of 10 cents.

ADVERTISED LETTERS.

All letters remaining in the office are advertised on Monday of each week. If not claimed in ONE MONTH thereafter, they are then forwarded to the Dead Letter office.

MONEY ORDERS.

Especial attention is called to the Money Order system, as a safe and cheap method of transmitting small sums through the mails. Orders are issued in sums of not more than fifty dollars. Larger amounts can be transmitted to the same person, at the same time, by additional orders.

RATES.

On orders not exceeding $15,		10 cents
Over $15 and not exceeding $30,		15 cents
Over $30 and not exceeding $40,		20 cents

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Rheumatic Gout, General Debility, Catarrh, and all disorders caused by a thin and impoverished or corrupted condition of the blood; expelling the blood poisons from the system, enriching and renewing the blood, and restoring its vitalizing power.

During a long period of unparalleled usefulness, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has proven its perfect adaptation to the cure of all diseases originating in poor blood and weakened vitality. It is a highly concentrated extract of Sarsaparilla and other blood-purifying roots, combined with Iodide of Potassium and Iron, and is the safest, most reliable, and most economical blood-purifier and blood-food that can be used.

Inflammatory Rheumatism Cured

"AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has cured me of the Inflammatory Rheumatism, with which I have suffered for many years. W. H. MOORE."

Durham, Ia., March 2, 1882.

"Eight years ago I had an attack of Rheumatism so severe that I could not move from the bed or dress without help. I tried several remedies without much if any relief, until I took AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by the use of two bottles of which I was completely cured. I have not been troubled with the Rheumatism since. I have sold large quantities of your SARSAPARILLA, and it still retains its wonderful popularity. The many notable cures it has effected in this vicinity convince me that it is the best blood medicine ever offered to the public. E. F. HARRIS."

River St., Buckland, Mass., May 13, 1882.

"Last March I was so weak from general debility that I could not walk without help. Following the advice of a friend, I commenced taking AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, and before I had used three bottles I felt as well as I ever did in my life. I have been at work now for two months, and think your SARSAPARILLA the greatest blood medicine in the world. JAMES MAYNARD."

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA cures Scrofula and all Scrofulous Complaints, Erysipelas, Eczema, Ringworm, Blotches, Sores, Boils, Tumors, and Eruptions of the Skin. It clears the blood of all impurities, aids digestion, stimulates the action of the bowels, and thus restores vitality and strengthens the whole system.
